DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election of Group I in the reply filed on 8/13/07 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claims 42-99 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim.

Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 8/13/07.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1,9,17-22,28,30,33-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lebel et al (USPubN 20020065509). Lebel discloses an implantatable system that includes drug delivery and sensory monitoring of the patient, among other features. The system includes a body portion, an extending part, at least one receiving part and control circuitry. The system also includes a pump, sensors, wireless communication components, insulin and processor. See figures 1B and 3-5.

Art Unit: 3763

Claims 1-8,10,17,23-24,26-27,32-34,39 and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by O'Leary et al (USPN 6,384,741 B1). O'Leary discloses a motorized extendable/retractable antenna for viewing traffic obscured by large vehicles. The system includes a body (car), an extending part (antenna), a receiving part (antenna housing within car), multiple control circuits, a camera, and rotator for the camera. The antenna is telescopic. See figures.

Claims 1,9,11-17,21-22,28,30 and 33-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Labbe et al (USPN 4,944,659). Labbe discloses an implantatable piezoelectric pumping system that includes a body (housing), an extending part (catheter), at least one receiving body (drug reservoir), polymer (piezoelectric element) and a control circuit. See figures 3a-b.

Claims 1,23,25 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Davison et al (USPN 6,296,638 B1). Davison discloses a body (10), an extending part (catheter), at least one receiving body (34) and a control circuit. The system also includes a tool for ablating and cautery.

Claims 1 and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Adair (USPN 6,086,528). Adair discloses a body (handle), an extending part (probe), at least one receiving body (syringe) and a control circuit. The system also includes a stent delivery. See figure 6.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-41 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-37 of copending Application No. 10/827,576 and claims 1-34 of copending Application No. 10/827,572. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the instant application claims a body, an extending part, a receiving body and a control circuit. Application 10/827,576 claims at least one arm (extending part), a control circuit, at least one receptacle (receiving body). Application 10/827,576 does not recite a body; however, this limitation would be obvious in that the incorporation of a housing is obvious. Application 10/827,572 claims a body, an extendable finger (extending part), at least one reservoir (receiving body) and a control circuit.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
